

CALL FOR PAPERS

4th Vietnam National Scientific Conference on Mechanical Engineering (VCME) Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam, October 9-10, 2015

4th VCME

Purpose

VCME is a series of scientific conferences, which is the vastest forum for the nationwide experts, researchers and teachers in Mechanical Engineering field. It is organized by the prestigious Vietnam General Association of Mechanical Engineering every two years. This time, the 4th VCME conference is co-organized by the Association, HCMC University of Technology and Education and HCMC University of Agriculture and Forestry. It is planned to stage simultaneously at the two universities in October 9-10, 2015 to:

- Announce all obtained scientific research achievements, transferred technology into applications and production, and technical manpower training within the last 5 years.
- Recommend new scientific research proposals for the coming years till 2020 for ameliorating quality and efficiency of research and education in Mechanical Engineering.
- Reinforce relationships between universities, research institutes and industry.
- Promote the role of Mechanical Engineering and Technology in the national strategic industrialization and modernization.

TOPICS OF INTEREST IN 4th VCME

Papers to be submitted to 4th VCME may cover a variety of topics including:

- Machinery Manufacturing
- Automotive Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering in Agricultural-Forestry, Civil and Transport Technology
- Automation and Robotics
- Bio-mechatronics
- Mechanical Material Engineering
- Strategy for Mechanical Engineering Research and Manpower Education
- Thermal engineering and Energy

(Submitted papers may concentrate on development in design, technology, materials, further research strategy, manpower training, etc)

The 4th VCME organizing committee invites scholars, experts, researchers and colleagues from universities, colleges and industry to submit their excellent papers that seek to identify, reflect on, or respond to trends, innovations and developments in Mechanical Engineering. We welcome papers that contain original theoretical, experimental or application-based contributions or unique reports of experience. Theoretical overviews should contain some original contribution; reports of experimental work should be analytical, not merely descriptive; and reviews of developing fields should be critical, not merely informative. All papers ought to provide conference participants in one way or another with a fresh or novel perspective.

LANGUAGE TO BE USED IN THE CONFERENCE: Vietnamese and/or English
